WHAT I'M ALL ABOUT

SIMPLY PUT: I'M ALL ABOUT YOU

Since you found my work, I have a feeling you and I may have a lot in common. We are dreamers, adventurers, full of both wanderlust and wanting to be surrounded by the ones we love. Typically, you can find me with either coffee or wine in hand, and my dog by my side. Among other things I love to laugh and travel. I look for meaning and connection almost everywhere I go. The story of human connection is what inspires my work. I aspire to create art that is luminous, authentic, soulful and tells a story.

And in the time we have together, I want to tell your story. I want the photos you are left with shared and the moments remembered to always bring you right back to that special bookmark in time that immediately reconnects you. Images that over the years are shared with many, treasured at home, held in hands and close to hearts. It, of course, is about beautiful photos, but it's even more about being the photographer to tell your story the way you want it to be told for generations to come.

MARK ALL THE MOMENTS...

Time flies right by, and life is too short; it's so important to celebrate every step of life, be it a big celebration, or just taking a second to embrace the moment you're in.

I was always that person who took pictures of everyone and everything (go figure, right), and I'm so glad I did. I still look back at all my photos – the good and the imperfect – and it sparks a light in my heart, taking me right back into remembering, and I want to give you the same gift...

So whether this is your annual session to mark your growth, or a session to celebrate a milestone, or maybe for absolutely no reason at all....lets have some laughs, and truly fall in love with right here, right now.

WHAT TO EXPECT + WEAR

FAMILIES: There's nothing quite like the love shared between a family. While I do snap a few images of everyone looking at the camera during the beginning of our session, I mainly focus on honing in on this love connection. There are lots of hugs, running around (gotta tire out those little ones), and some of the time we get a little dirty. Embrace the messy and imperfect, and let the kiddos be themselves. Because of the way these sessions are handled, it's important to wear clothing that is comfortable. Although I love me a good matchy-matchy session, consider mixing it up and tie the colors together in different ways.

SENIORS: Woah, what a moment in time, and a melting pot of emotions! To best represent your session, I like to find out where you like to spend your time, what kinds of activities you're involved with in and out of school, and any and every thing that represents who you are this year. Allow yourself to dress comfortably, in the way that you want to remember yourself right now.

It's a good general rule-of-thumb to stay away from bright, neon colors, graphics (unless intentional), and bold patterns. Consider the environment of your session as well as your skin complexion when choosing your colors. Darker colors are known to be flattering.

thank you.
